Upon the same evening Judge Durell, of the United States District Court, called the attention of District Attorney Torrey to the matter therein contained, and accordingly yesterday the Marshal sent on board the vessel Deputy Marshal Armstrong, who returned with the engineer and two of the crew, with whom General Herron had a conversation. He also conversed upon the subject at issue with Captain Dubois, who commands one of the vessels. Meanwhite Superintendent Cain, of the Metropolitan police, had in person visited the Marshal, and turned over to him the reports made from day to day by special officer Cunningham, who had been detailed to yissi the ship.

A CHEROKEE DELEGATION IN ST. LOUIS.

Interesting Information About Government
Promises Not Kept.

[From the St. Louis Republican, Dec. 19.]
H. D. Reese, J. P. Daus and Archy Scraper, from the Cherokee Nation, are stopping at Barnum's. They comprise part of a detigation on the way to Washington, the balance of which are expected in a few days. These delegates were appointed by the Cherokee Council to visit Washington for the purpose of attending to the general interests of the Nation, but more especially to urge the ratification by Congress of a treaty made last July by Commissioner Taylor on the part of the government and Colonel Downing, Chief of the Cherokees. Of course unit, the injunction of secrecy is removed by the action of Congress the purport of the treaty cannot be stated. Mr. Reese is accompanied by his wife. He is a most intelligent gentieman, and, so far as dress, manners, language and general appearance go, it would be difficult to distinguish him from a genuine Anglo-Saxon. He was born near Chattanooga, Tenn., and removed with his people to Tahlequa, in the Cherokoe Reservation. The intelligent portion of the civilized tribes take great interest in the present movements against and the future disposition of the wild, roving tribes of the Plains. Mr. Reese, in this connection, gives an interesting piece of information. wild, roving tribes of the riams. Ar. Receig, it tais connection, gives an interesting piece of information. He states that last spring a joint representation from the Cherokee, Choctaw, Chiekasaw and Creek na-tions called on General Grant at the War Office in Washington and made a proposition agreeing to make peace with all the wild tribes below the Armake peace with all the wild tribes below the Ar-kansas, receive them into their reservations, teach them the arts of civilized life, provided the govern-ment would guarantee to stand by them in every ar-rangement made to effect that object. They required that every promise made to these wild Indians should be kept and adhered to in good faith. This the Indian representatives agree to do at one-twen-tieth of the cost expended by the government under the present system. General Grant seemed to ap-prove of the general idea, but this was the last of it, and no further progress was made in the matter.

Great Cock Fight-Richmond Against New York-Henrico Furnishes One Hundred

(From the Richmond Whig, Dec. 21.]
It may not be known to our readers that arrangements have been made for a cock fight in New York city, to commence the last of this week, in which seventy-five cocks of the gamest oreeds known in this section are to be matched against the same number of Northern game chickens. The parties who have made up this great match are said to be the Hon. John Morrissey, on the part of New York, and Mr. McDaniel, the well known racer, on the part of Virginia. At any rate, whoever got it up, the match will take place, and will araw together crowds of sporting men from every part of the country. "Squire" Bob Allen, of this city, has collected in the county of Henrico 100 of the most splended specimens of cocks we ever saw. In form, bearing and plumage they are royal looking, he will leave by steamer to-morrow with them for New York city.

He will leave by steamer to-morrow with them for New York city.

To prevent his treasures from being affected by the sait water or the weather, they will be carried in bags and placed below deck in a comfortable place. The fight will last three days, which will allow a main of twenty-five cocks a side each day.

To-morrow and next day the sporting men of Richmond will turn their faces Gothamward, ready to go their bottom doilar on "the Squire's" cocks. The Squire has procured the highest crowned black beaver in the city, and will wear it in the pit, where he will be a conspicuous character as manager-inchief of the Virginia cocks.
